

Mole watched from a distance all that was going on at the Hares'.
He looked forward to the little hare babies: he thought about how he would teach them to run and to hop...

The babies in Mobtail's tummy really were alive and kicking.
"They must be fighting each other! Just come, Bob, and feel them!" Mobtail laughed.

